AEROSCOPIA

This aviation museum was built on the very spot the A380 Airbus was first completed. Here you can admire commercial and military aircraft and learn behind-the-scenes knowledge about the industry, as well as clamber inside certain vessels.

Cité de l'Espace

The fantastic space museum on the city's eastern outskirts brings Toulouse's illustrious aeronautical history to life through hands-on exhibits, including a moon-running simulator, a rotating pod to test your tolerance for space travel, a planetarium and an observatory, plus a vast cinema to immerse you in a space mission. The showpieces are the full-scale replicas of iconic spacecraft, including

Place du Capitole

Toulouse's magnificent main square is the city's literal and metaphorical heart, where Toulousiens turn out en masse on sunny evenings to sip a coffee or an early aperitif at a pavement cafe. On the eastern side is the 128m-long façade of the Capitole, the city hall, built in the 1750s. Inside is the Théâtre du Capitole, one of France's most prestigious opera venues, and the over-the-top, late constructed under Louis XIV to link the Atlantic to the Mediterranean Sea. Deservedly inscribed on Unesco's list of the world's cultural heritage, the stretch wending from Toulouse towards Port Lauragais has 40km of cycling and walking paths to

Canal du Midi

Street art in Paris

<http://www.streetarttourparis.com/>

Paris is an open-air museum! Just look up and you'll see some amazing works: graffiti emblematic of hip-hop culture, mischievous stencils, poetic collages as well as monumental murals covering many facades.

Between Montmartre and the Butte-aux-Cailles, keep on the lookout because even the smallest space is an invitation to create art, and in many places in Paris, concrete surfaces are covered in colourful murals.

So, if you are in the mood for an unusual walk to discover Paris through its street art, here are 5 districts to explore:13TH
